English Class Questionnaire

"Let's improve our English. What can we do?"

English is a useful tool. If you can use it, you can communicate with people in many countries and areas. In our English class, I hope everyone tries to use English more, so we can enjoy English communication activities more.

I believe that it is good for us to have some class rules to improve our English. Will you write your ideas and reasons? I'm looking forward to hearing your ideas.

Example: Always speak to each other with good eye contact because you can understand other people's feelings.

Please write here.

I'll collect this questionnaire on September 10. Thank you.

(注) communicate with ~: ~とコミュニケーションをとる

【アンケートの結果】

- (注) making mistakes: 間違えること make eye contact: アイコンタクトをとる
- 1 【アンケート】と【アンケートの結果】の内容として合っているものを,次のアから力までの中から2つ 選びなさい。
 - This questionnaire will be collected in the last class of the year.
 - 1 The most popular idea from students is to listen carefully to people's opinions.
 - ウ Mr. Miller hopes these class rules may help students enjoy club activities at school, too.
 - I According to the results, most students think eye contact is very important.
 - オ Students have to write their own ideas with reasons.
 - カ Fifty students think it is important to speak in a clear voice.

直也さんは、ミラー先生と【アンケートの結果】を見ながら話しています。

【直也さんとミラー先生の会話】

Mr. Miller: What do you think about these questionnaire results, Naoya?

Naoya: I really liked learning about the ideas given by my classmates. I think all of the ideas in the questionnaire results are important. The graph ① [are / that / interested / us / we / shows] in becoming better English speakers.

Mr. Miller: Well, I'm glad that everyone expressed his or her ideas. First, I want you to make groups of four people. Then, choose your group leader. Each group will choose their favorite idea from the questionnaire results. Remember the reason should be included. Please think carefully. (②), your group leader will talk about your group's favorite class rule.

Naoya: OK. I think it is necessary for us to talk together, so everyone can become more active in English class.

Mr. Miller: That's right. I hope everyone will take part in my English class positively and have more and more chances to try English.

(注) take part in ~:~に参加する positively:積極的に

3 知美(Tomomi)さんと健太(Kenta)さんの学級では、英語の授業で興味のある社会的な問題についての意見発表を行いました。次は、【知美さんの発表】【知美さんの発表資料】【健太さんの感想】です。これらを読んで、後の1から6までの各問いに答えなさい。

【知美さんの発表】

Hello, everyone. Have you ever thought about the food you eat every day? Where does it come from? How does it come to you? I believe food and the environment are important.

Look at graph 1. Japan's food self-sufficiency rate is 37%. It means that Japan imports more than 60% of its food. I didn't know that, but I understood it when I thought about my breakfast. I ate rice, grilled fish, and miso soup. The rice was grown in Japan, but the fish was (①) in a foreign country. The miso and tofu are made from soybeans. However, most of the soybeans are imported from other countries. The breakfast was washoku, traditional Japanese cooking, but it was international.

Look at graph 2. Do you know how far your food traveled to get to you? You can see the food mileage here. Food mileage is calculated by multiplying weight and distance and it tells how much fuel is used to transport food. Japan's food mileage is higher than the other countries' food mileage in the graph. Japan buys a lot of food from many countries and a lot of fuel is used when the food is transported. Using too much fuel is not good for the environment, so we need to think about this. If we buy locally produced food, we don't use much fuel. I think buying locally produced food is one of the good ways to solve this problem.

There is another problem. There are ② [around / from / hunger / many / suffer / people / who] the world. However, food waste in Japan is more than six million tons a year. According to graph 3, [③]. I think we should do something to solve this problem. If we reduce food waste from home, it can make all the difference. When I opened the refrigerator last week, I found some food that was too old to eat. I had to throw it away and I felt very sorry. We should buy only the food we will eat.

Food is very important for us. We should think about the food we eat every day. I believe that we can find answers to our environmental problems. What is your opinion? Thank you.

(注) food mileage:フード・マイレージ(単位はt・km(トン・キロメートル)) calculate(d):計算する multiplying: multiply (かける)の ing 形 weight:重さ distance:距離 fuel:燃料 locally produced food:地元でつくられた食べ物 refrigerator:冷蔵庫

【健太さんの感想】

Thank you, Tomomi. Your presentation is great. You say that buying locally produced food is good for the environment and it has other good points, too. A few days ago, I went to the market near my house. A lot of vegetables grown in my town are sold there. The vegetables are fresh and we can get them in season. Sometimes the farmers who grew the vegetables come to the market to sell them. I met a farmer and enjoyed talking with him. He also taught me how to cook the vegetables. I ate them for dinner and they were delicious. If I know who grows the vegetables, I feel safe about my food. 4 I think it is good to buy the food produced in our local area not only for the environment but also for us.

A: Nice to meet you, Maria. I'm Satoshi.
B: Hi, Satoshi. Nice to meet you, too.
A: Maria, you are from Brazil, right? I hear you can speak Portuguese and English.
B: Yes. I can also speak Japanese because I learned it at university in Brazil. So I decided to work in Japan.
A: I see. Could you tell me about your work?
B: Sure. I usually support foreign residents in this city when they have troubles in their daily lives.
A: How do you support them?
B: I give them some information in different languages, like hazard maps.
A: Great. What else do you do?
B: Well, I help to plan festivals for foreign people. I want them to make friends with Japanese people.
A: What festival is the most popular?
B: The international food festival is. Everyone enjoys that festival together.
A: Sounds interesting. It will be a good chance for both foreign people and Japanese people to meet each other.
B: That's right. My goal is to be a bridge between them.
A: That's wonderful, Maria. Thank you very much for today.	B 0 2
